ABOUT US

We're PROFOH – Professionals for Humanity. Our primary goal is to respond to medical & social emergencies with swift and direct interventions. An American missionary (Cliff Jarrell) in West Africa inspired a group of friends on the need to have an independent and innovative humanitarian organization that could respond on short notice to social and medical emergencies.

One thing led to another but ultimately, Gbemutor Kama, a Nigerian founded Professionals For Humanity (PROFOH) with Cliff Henry Jarrell in 1998 in the middle of Jesse fire disaster that claimed about 6000 lives in Jesse community, Delta State-Nigeria. The official launch was held at the Hotel Presidential, Port Harcourt in May 2000. A few years later they were joined by Mr. Markus von- Have, a German. Today the organization has become a global brand, with eight countries, presence in other thirteen nations, it has grown to 10-man Board, 11- man Advisory Board and every country

Till date, we have conducted several medical, educational, and social missions across the developing world, performed free life-saving surgeries for thousands and clinical consultations and treatment for over 1.3 million people, with support from our partners collectively, the organization has performed over 13,000 lifesaving surgeries globally. We are currently made of every profession including college students, medical students, activists, doctors, nurses, respiratory therapists, water engineers, education experts, and lawyers.

PROFOH is a recipient of goodwill messages from world leaders such as President George W. Bush, President Bill Clinton, Mr. Koffi Annan, former UN Secretary-General and five other awards, Including Humanitarian organization of the year 2013 Award by Global Thinkers Forum in partnership the city of Athens-Greece.
